Greetings Fellow Oregon FFA Members,

I write you today to seek your support for my candidacy as an Oregon FFA State Officer. As we consider our experiences in FFA, many of us capture our most cherished memories in various ways. In today's world, most of us have access to a camera on our mobile devices. As I scroll through my photos, I have time to relive moments of my life that I had captured throughout the past years. On my phone, I found many photos from FFA competitions, time spent with friends and family, and of course, selfies with my animals. These are three aspects of my life that I hold important to me, and help propel me to strive for success.

As an FFA member, I found myself most passionate when I was able to push fellow members to grow as individuals. Within my home chapter, I've encouraged and guided others to apply for chapter and district office, built-up members' confidence before livestock judging events, or to stretch themselves to try a new activity or CDE. As members of the FFA, it is our duty to help others reach success and strive towards realizing our potential.

I challenge you to scroll through those many photos on your phone while traveling to this year's state convention; relive those community service activities, time spent with other FFA members, and those moments of happiness. As you begin planning for State Convention, be determined to capture success, just as you have captured your memories. Seek support from fellow FFA members and decide what it is that makes you a great FFA member. What I offer to you is my determination, and passion, to strengthen others to reach success.

What is even more amazing is thinking about the future and what memories FFA and life have waiting for us to capture. The uncertainty and the unknown can be a bit daunting, but it is also very inspiring to know that we have the opportunity to make so many more memories in the future together.

Oregon FFA, I am determined to help you find ways to achieve goals and realize your potential. I am determined to motivate our fellow FFA members, and share inspiration as we work towards being our best. With a determination to contribute direction, enthusiasm, and collaboration to the Oregon FFA Association, I announce my candidacy for the Oregon FFA 2016-2017 State Officer Team.

Sincerely,

Hailee Patterson
