

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Students participating in the Parliamentary Procedure Leadership Development Event (LDE) are evaluated on their ability to conduct an orderly and efficient meeting using parliamentary procedure.

Participants are judged on their knowledge of parliamentary law and their ability to present logical, realistic and convincing debate and motions.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

1. Two teams can advance from districts to sectionals. One team will advance from sectionals to state, the 2nd place team advisor at sectionals will serve as a judge for the state event.
2. A team will consist of six chapter officers (they may or may not be regular chapter officers).
3. Each set of officers will conduct the meeting for 12 minutes, with time to begin when the Chair calls for the first discussion on the initial motion. While one set of officers is in the "chairs" the other three teams competing in the CDE will act as floor members. Officers in the chairs may not make motions or debate. An impartial person shall be appointed as timer.
4. Officers shall represent the same office throughout the CDE and shall be seated with the chairman at the rear of the team and other officers in order from rear to front.
5. Roberts' Rules of Order, Revised Edition, shall be the final authority on parliamentary procedure except where it is in conflict with the FFA CDE Manual.
6. No member may yield the floor to any other member.
7. The only item allowed on the floor for the CDE will be a writing utensil, provided topic sheet, and a clean clipboard. Secretary's letterhead and extra paper for the chairman shall be placed at the judges table while teams are on the floor. The letterhead and extra paper must be turned in at the end of the teams turn in the chair position.
8. Team secretaries will be required to keep minutes of the meeting, on official letterhead, while their team is in charge. Any member may call upon the secretary to read a motion at any time during the CDE. Each secretary is to submit their minutes to the judges three (3) minutes after the session is closed.
9. Should any member of any competing team communicate with his/her advisor, use a book, or other parliamentary help from the opening of the CDE to the closing of the final session, offending person(s) shall be penalized by receiving a zero for the entire event, thus also receiving a -15. No communication is allowed by team members during the CDE sessions, with the exception of the secretary and the chairman during their time in the chair. Communication among team members ONLY in the time between rotations ONLY is allowed.
10. A definite rotation to begin at far left (left to right from the presiding officer) will be followed for all main and subsidiary motions and their discussion. Incidental motions will be taken wherever they occur, and the rotation will continue where it left off. (It is optional for the chairman to keep a record sheet to help keep track of the rotation and pending motion.)
11. For incidental motions to gain points, they must do one of the following:
 - a. Advance business in the proper form.
 - b. Protect the rights of the members.

12. Each parliamentary team will draw for the order in which they will preside and participate as floor members. State rotation chart will be as follows:

Chairman	Row 1	Row 2	Row 3
1	2	3	4
2	3	4	1
3	4	1	2
4	1	2	3

13. A set of the same 20 "topics for discussion" will be furnished to each member in the CDE at the beginning of the CDE. The words "not" and "should not" will not be part of the topics for discussion. Main motions should relate directly to the topics but need not use the same wording. All topics for discussion are to be considered as hypothetical, and the delegation is to deal with them as such. The reading of the topic for discussion, which will be selected at random, will be done by the secretary "in the chair."
14. The "topics for discussion" will be formulated from topics annually submitted to the state advisor by district FFA advisors and distributed to every FFA chapter. These topics distributed by the state advisor will be used for district, sectional and state contests. The topics are to deal with (a) The FFA, (b) Current Events Related to Agriculture, (c) Production Agriculture, (d) Agribusiness, and (e) Agricultural Legislation. No topic to be used more than two years in a row.
15. The district, sectional, and state contests will use the topics for discussion that are supplied by the state office. Local chapters may use any topics they wish for their chapter contests.
16. At the district, sectional and state contests the 20 numbered "topics for discussion" should be prepared ahead of time. Enough copies should be available for all team contestants plus judges. A container will be available in which individual folded slips of paper that have been numbered from 1 to 20, are to be placed. The secretary "in the chair" will draw a number upon direction of the president "in the chair" to select the topic of discussion. Numbered topic areas will be used only once during a CDE.
18. When the chairman of the team "in the chairs" is ready to call for new business, he/she may say: "...as there is no old business to come before the meeting, we will proceed at once into new business which is consideration of the 'topics for discussion.' Will the secretary please select at random and read the number of the first topic for discussion." When a motion on the first topic for discussion has been finalized (passed, failed, refer/comment, postpone, etc.) the chairman will ask the secretary to select at random and read the number of the second topic for discussion and so forth.
19. The only time "floor members" can participate is when the presiding officer calls for new business or discussion.
20. Before the "floor member" or an officer is allowed to speak, he/she must stand to be recognized by the presiding officer. Alternate provisions must be made for physically handicapped members.
21. No team member can make more than one motion or subsidiary motion until another person has been recognized. A member cannot move a subsidiary motion after discussion without obtaining the floor again. If a member moved to lay on the table and it passes, the maker of the motion has first priority to the floor for a new motion.
12. The timer will notify each set of officers in charge when the 12-minute business session is finished by stating: "All motions have been moved and seconded and previous question on all pending business has passed." The chairperson will then dispose of all current business on the floor in an orderly manner. Floor members only will participate (not "team in the chair"). Only the voting and adjournment is permitted following the timers announcement.

STRATAGEM

The CDE is to operate in the atmosphere or circumstance of the State FFA Convention. Each team of officers, when taking the chairs, will consider themselves as the state officers operating a business session at the State Convention. Other team members taking part in the CDE should be considered as official chapter delegates at the convention taking part in the business session. Each time a team turns the "chairs" over to another team, the first business session of the new State Convention is started and thus situations cannot be carried over from one team's handling of a business session to another. The topics which generate action in each session are to be considered as hypothetical -- topics which might logically or properly be handled by the State FFA Convention or delegate body. The outcome will not be binding on the association in actuality but should be treated by the competing teams as though the action could be made when it is within the scope of the FFA. Topics not directly under the jurisdiction of the Oregon FFA Association should be moved as "The Oregon FFA Association goes on record as supporting/opposing the topic for discussion."

1. Opening and closing ceremonies will not be given by competing teams.

Suggested Interpretation of the Parli Pro Scorecard

- Originality in Main Motion – is to offer a creative solution to the problem, more than simply restating the topic with” I move” in front.
- 5 point discussion – should be articulate, well thought out, and state facts relating to the topic.
- Subsidiary motions and their discussion – should be relevant to the main motion, not just a strategy for points. They should help move business in the forward direction and discussion should strengthen argument for the pending motion.
- Amendments to subsidiary motions – again should not be time-wasting or for points only. They should have a definite purpose in moving business forward. For example: if judges feel that there is no real productive reason for an amendment to a referral to a committee, then it should receive a 0 in points.
- Incidental motions – should not be given any points if they are arbitrarily made for no real purpose. Can be used appropriately to question the chairman, clarify Roberts Rules of Order, or to clarify discussion points.
- Previous Question – 0 points: discussion has just started, member clearly has nothing else to say; 1 or 2 pts: discussion might be getting repetitive but there is probably subsidiary motions that could be made to strengthen the motion; 3 pts: discussion is redundant, perhaps the teams or chairman are confused, and the session is spiraling downward, and the discussion should be stopped.
