Greetings Oregon FFA!

Allow me to take you back to my first year when I was brand new to farm life. It was my sixth grade year, 2004-2005, when my family and I moved from a large, urban city to a small, rural town. At first, I knew few people, but after a weeklong trip to Camp Tadmor for Outdoor School, I became acquainted with several individuals as well as learned to step out and get involved. When I returned to school I gained a different outlook from my regular urban attitude. This new personality, this new outlook, provided me the drive to return and become involved in my school and its functions.

As time progressed, the family farm grew into a prosperous operation. At the coming of my eighth grade year I enrolled into Beginning Agriculture. It was in this class where I discovered a whole new group of people, people who owned livestock and openly discussed farm life! Even though I had reached a point in my life to get involved within the school, I had not, however, gotten past expressing my true personality and who I am. It was with these “FFA members” that I found where I would stand as a freshman at Cascade Sr. High School next year.

High School was amazing and has kept getting better! There have been new activities every year starting with State Convention in Pendleton, National Convention in Indiana, and Washington Leadership Conference in D.C.; every single event provided a new challenge to my personality, a new barrier between “the norm” and my true self.

My name is Caleb Forcier and it is with great honor and overwhelming excitement that I announce my candidacy for the 2011-2012 Oregon FFA State Officer Team. Throughout life we are going to face barriers and challenges and it’s nice to have a lending hand to teach us and lead us to success. It would be a great honor to, over the next year, serve and represent the Oregon FFA and to accomplish and achieve our potential through growth.
